PLAINVILLE PARISHIONERS PLANT A GARDEN TO SHARE, CULTIVATE COMMUNITY

During the summer and fall seasons, Gary Vincent uses his gardening skills for the benefit of parishioners at Our Lady of Mercy Parish in Plainville.

"I'm helping the church but the parishioners mainly," he says. "I like to do things that put a smile on somebody's face."

On an acre of church grounds, Vincent keeps the "lost art" of gardening alive by (in no particular order) composting, planting, fertilizing, installing weed control fabric, trellising the tomatoes and harvesting a variety of vegetables for parishioners to enjoy.

Now that the season has come to an end, Vincent is rototilling the church garden with his tractor and harvesting the seeds. He will begin growing plants next March, utilizing his own portable greenhouse on his Plainville property.

"I look at a little seed, and I like to watch it grow," Vincent says. "I've been gardening all my life. My father taught me how to plant when I was 12, and I haven't missed a season yet."

Vincent, who has received an Archdiocese of Hartford St. Joseph Medal of Appreciation with his wife, Laurie, is a lifelong parishioner of Our Lady of Mercy Parish. He pours his heart, soul and resources into the garden.

"I like to plant what people want the most when they go to the grocery store, tomatoes," says Vincent, who is also well known for growing prize-winning pumpkins for competitions.

At the church garden last spring, he planted some 450 tomato plants consisting of a wide variety of types. Complementing the tomatoes were eggplant, zucchini, yellow squash, cucumbers, Nardello sweet frying peppers, shishito peppers and radishes, in addition to a patch of zinnia flowers.

"We plant everything about 28 to 36 inches apart for good air circulation," Vincent says. "There's a lot of tricks to the trade."

Father M. David Dawson, pastor of Our Lady of Mercy Parish, credits the parish volunteers for their commitment to the garden. "The parish garden is operated by a very small but dedicated crew of volunteers, to whom the parish is greatly indebted to for their service," he says.

"In a time where the bare necessities have gotten so very expensive, the parish is blessed to have these green thumbs helping so very many people. They produce thousands of dollars' worth of vegetables. Hopefully, we will have an influx of volunteers to continue to make it possible next spring."

Plainville resident and parishioner Leona Bisson is one of those volunteers, who started helping Vincent more five years ago. "I started talking to Gary and I wanted to help," she says. "He's a master gardener. He knows everything about growing."

Bisson even recruited her 19-year-old grandson, Ryan Whitehead, to help her pick vegetables, pack them in boxes and carry them into the church.

The boxes with vegetables are displayed on tables at the church's two entrances for the parishioners to help themselves after weekend Masses.

Bisson makes sure the boxes are refilled after every Mass. An extraordinary minister of Holy Communion, she brings fresh vegetables with her when she visits homebound parishioners. Some vegetables are also donated to the local food pantry.

"We get so excited over these vegetables, to watch them grow and to think of how many people will enjoy them," Bisson says. She adds that volunteers harvested about 10,000 tomatoes during the 2024 growing season. "People appreciate it so much."

Vincent says he finds joy in gardening. "I feel I am accomplishing something," he says.

To help with the garden next spring, call the parish office, 860.747.6825.

NEWS FROM THE ARCHDIOCESE OF HARTFORD

Branches on the Vine

NOVEMBER 8 - 14, 2025

THE PASTOR'S CORNER

My friends, last week we began a new series of homilies that allows us to focus on, as St. Paul say's, "Fight the good fight of faith." Last week we looked at both the Church militant in Heaven and the Church militant in Purgatory as we celebrated the Solemnity of All Saints and The Commemoration of the Faithful Departed- All Souls. What is important for us to remember is that we are a part of God's militant Church on earth- fighting the good fight of faith- through the battles we all face every day; and most of those battles have to do with the challenges we face- both as a community and as individuals, not to mention the effects of sin that create the chaos within these battles. However, we have a victor- Jesus Christ. Through his Incarnation, death, and Resurrection he has won for us the greatest battle the world has ever known, and has become our means as to why we should keep fighting the good fight of faith on earth in order to join Him and enjoy the riches of His victory in the Kingdom. As I said last week, competition is good for us as it helps us to better ourselves and see the great gifts that God has given to us, even though too competition may get the best of us and becomes not so good because we allow for our own ego to get in the way. Today we celebrate the Feast of the Dedication of the Lateran Basilica. What is this feast and what is its meaning for us you may ask? Well, the Basilica of St. John Lateran is a Basilica in Rome that was built by and during the time of Emperor Constantine as the so called 'Cathedral of Rome'. St. Peter's Basilica is the the place where the Holy Father conducts his official business for the Church Universal, but the Lateran Basilica is where he exercises his authority as the Bishop of Rome, and thus his entire Papacy.

In the Gospel for today we find Jesus, 'fighting the good fight of faith'. His zeal drives him into the Temple to drive out the money changers and those who are desecrating the temple through the selling of animals for sacrifice and other objects. What Jesus is trying to do is remind the people that the temple is sacred. It is the place where the people are able to experience God through prayer and sacrifice. However, this idea of the temple has become so secular in the minds of the Jewish people that they forget what it is supposed to stand for. Jesus then transitions the idea of the physical temple to the temple of His body- not just His physical body, but also His Spiritual Body- the Church. The Church, of which you and I are a part of, does not consist of the physical structure, but rather all of us gathered together as a community to pray as the Church militant on earth and 'fight the good fight of faith'. Holding true to the teachings of Christ and becoming bridge builders to Him. As the Prophet Ezekiel mentions the 'water flowing from the east side of the temple' which represents Christ pouring out His blood on the Cross to establish and consecrate His Church. We are, through our own Baptism and every day when we receive the Eucharist, poured on by the water and blood that has come from His side for us to experience two things: The first is for us to receive the spiritual and physical strength we need to overcome the battles we face in this world; and two, it gives us the opportunity to unite ourselves more fully into the community of faith that we are a part of in order for us to participate in the mystery of Christ's love as members of His Body. In this extraordinary experience and mystery, we, the Church militant on earth fighting the good fight of faith, will attain the victory and, God-willing, join the Church militant in the Kingdom of Heaven with the Saints and all his Holy one rejoicing that the war is done and the Lamb who is at the center of the temple in Heaven obtains absolute victory!
