Pope Leo's Prayer Intention For March:
For disarmament and peace.

Let us pray that nations move toward effective disarmament, particularly nuclear disarmament, and that world leaders choose the path of dialogue and diplomacy instead of violence.

FEBRUARY 28 - MARCH 6, 2026

NEW BOOK UNVEILS STORY OF ST. MICHAEL CHURCH, CONNECTICUT'S FIRST ITALIAN CHURCH

Daniel Elliott cherishes his boyhood memories of celebrating the feast of St. Mary Magdalene on Wooster Street in New Haven, when his parents would dress him in a snappy white suit to watch the procession of bands, Italian religious societies, food vendors and the statue of Santa Maria Maddalena being carried on a platform by parishioners of St. Michael's Church.

"Wooster Street would be festooned with red, white and green garland, and our entire family would stand outside my grandmother's apartment watching," Elliott recalls. "As a kid, I went to Mass at St. Michael's, and all the religious processions were so cool to me."

A parishioner and former trustee of the church, Elliott's love of his Italian heritage and his interest in genealogy inspired him to undertake a nearly three-year project, writing his first book, The History of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, about the first Italian-American parish in Connecticut, founded in 1889 to serve the influx of immigrants.

The 375-page work, which is available on Amazon, is also a chronicle of the Italian community and the Missionaries of St. Charles Borromeo, known as the Scalabrinians, founded by St. John Baptist Scalabrini in 1887 to support immigrants and who staffed the church for almost 120 years.

For more than 130 years, six generations of his family on his mother Barbara Colosso Elliott's side have worshipped at St. Michael's, which is part of the Blessed Michael McGivney Parish. And while his father David is of Irish, Scottish and English lineage, he has a love of Italian culture and food.

"I always had an interest in St. Michael's history because it seemed to be the most spectacular church," Elliott says. "I've gone there from the time I was a little kid and attended the school until the second grade." Today, the Glastonbury resident and attorney worships there with his wife Lauren and daughters Grace Angelika, 5, and Isla Maddalena, 2.

Elliott's interest led him to Dr. Mary Elizabeth Brown, archivist and historian at the Center for Migration Studies in New York City, where he discovered a treasure trove of material about the church.

"We got to talking, and the idea just came up that maybe I should do a book on St. Michael's," he recalls. "She provided me with access to the records I needed." Elliott's research revealed that then-Bishop Lawrence McMahon "was relentless in his support of Italian immigrants in New Haven and he went all out to help them."

Although acrimony between Irish and Italian communities was common, the Italian immigrants revered the three Irish priests assigned to them before the Scalabrinians arrived.

Religious societies associated with Italian towns were formed to support immigrants, including the Santa Maria Maddalena Society, St. Trofimenia Society, St. Andrew the Apostle Society, St. Catello Society and the Santa Maria delle Vergini Society, along with a society honoring St. Ann.

His book also describes the work of the Apostles of the Sacred Heart, who arrived in 1906 to help the Italian community and run St. Michael's School. The sisters even began day care so immigrant families could work in the factories and have a better life.

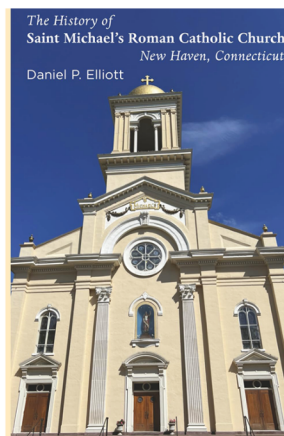

The generation of immigrants that arrived between 1880 to 1920 is gone, but the church is trying to preserve traditions for younger Italian-Americans.

"We're fortunate to have people who are strongly devoted to this culture and want to preserve these traditions for our kids and grandkids," Elliott says.

"And the way that happens is for us to continue with the processions and the feasts, and I hope in some small way my book contributes to that."

ROSARY FOR LIFE

Church of the Incarnation, 544 Prospect St, Wethersfield

Christ the King Parish invites all to gather at the Church of the Incarnation for "Rosary for Life" to support and honor all forms of life from conception to natural death.

This event takes place at the same time as the Connecticut March for Life Rally at the state capitol. "Rosary for Life" is offered as a complement to the Hartford event for those who may have difficulty attending due to weather or mobility issues.

At this moment in history, there are so many threats to the sacredness of life in our world (war, abortion, assisted suicide, lack of care and compassion for the sick and dying, etc.) We need this opportunity to pray to our Blessed Mother Mary for guidance and direction.

The Connecticut March for Life in Hartford will also be held on March 18, 2026. The rally will begin at 12 p.m. at the State Capitol in Hartford and the march will start at 1 p.m. in Bushnell Park. Please consider attending one of these events.

THE PASTOR'S CORNER

The book "The Power of the Cross", a compilation of Good Friday Homilies by Cardinal Raniero Cantalamessa, former Preacher of the Papal Household, has become our Lenten theme this year. We began talking about the Cross on Ash Wednesday with the '5 pillars' of Lent for this year: Prayer, Fasting, Almsgiving, and Listening and Togetherness (the latter two from Pope Leo XIV Lent 2026 message). Last weekend we talked about the 'uncomfortability' of the cross where sin makes us feel uncomfortable, but Lent even more. The challenge we had was two-fold: Asking ourselves if our Lenten disciplines and fastings make us uncomfortable, and if not, then how can we make them uncomfortable. Christ carried a dry, splintery, heavy Cross to die for our redemption. Lent is supposed to make us uncomfortable and help change our lives-attitude, things we consume, etc... for the long term. In saying this, the second half of the challenge was for us to take a Cross at Mass (more are coming), and when we feel tempted to break our Lenten disciplines because of our own uncomfortability, we take the cross from Mass in our hands and hold it really hard. It may feel tough and a bit painful, but that's only temporary to help us overcome the temptation, as we remind ourselves of Christ's pain and agony unto His death.

This week my friends, in reflecting upon the 'Power of the Cross', we reflect upon its magnificence! In our Gospel we are given the famous account of the Transfiguration, where Jesus goes up Mount Tabor with Peter, James, and John, and reveals himself in His Divine glory- not removing His humanity but allowing His Divinity to shine through. Even more so giving us a foretaste of what Jesus promises us which is fulfilled on the Cross, where in this scene Jesus radiates His divine beauty, while on the cross Jesus radiates the 'ugliness' of humanity. And what does He promise us? Eternal life and the beatific vision.

The question is, how are we able to climb 'our' Mount Tabor to behold something so beautiful and great as we struggle with the crosses we carry? In our Second Reading, St. Paul in his 2nd Letter to Timothy, adequately describes how the Transfiguration relates to the Crucifixion. In saying, "Bear your share of hardship for the gospel with the strength that comes from God. He saved us and called us to a holy life." The struggle we have is the temptation to fall short this Lent with our 'uncomfortable' disciplines and the day to day inclination to sin. One of the things we need to remember is that the cross was never easy, as stated above; and St. Paul's call to 'bear our hardship for the gospel' can only come from our reliance on the strength that comes from God. St. Teresa of Calcutta once said, "I don't think there is anyone who needs God's help and grace as much as I do. Sometimes I feel so helpless and weak. I think that is why God uses me. Because I cannot depend on my own strength, I rely on Him twenty-four hours a day." St. Teresa of Calcutta worked tirelessly for the poor in India and even around the world wherever she traveled. She knew she could not do it alone, but trusted in God's strength...and look where she is now: behold the face of God in Heaven. She carried her cross, which was never easy. She carried the 'hardship of the Gospel' by relying on the strength that God gave her. God gives us strength through the power of the Cross. Hold that cross in your pocket. In moments you are weak, tired, lonely, bogged down by school or work, etc... hold that Cross, and our Lord will help you to carry it up your mountain so that you may behold His beauty and glory.

-Fr. Matt
