SAINTS WITH SAL

Saint Thomas Becket was an English cleric who served as Lord Chancellor in 1155 then served as Archbishop of Canterbury in 1162 until his death. Thomas Becket was known for his conflict with King Henry II over matters and rights of the Church. Years of swearing loyalty to the Church, opposing the king's position towards the Church, and excommunicating insubordinate bishops loyal to the crown, Thomas Becket was marked for death. On the drunken orders of King Henry II, St. Thomas Becket was martyred in Canterbury Cathedral in December 1170, "We will triumph over the enemy" Thomas Becket said the day of his murder. I drew Saint Thomas Becket with a sword going through his head, depicting his martyrdom and I dressed him in blue clergy robes, showing hope for the Church.

THE PASTOR'S CORNER

My friends, in the book titled, "The Power of the Cross" by Raniero Cardinal Cantalamessa, which has been our Lenten reflection over these past few weeks, Cardinal Cantalamessa writes in the chapter titled, Crucified in Weakness, Christ Lives by the Power of God, "Throughout the Bible, besides the revelation of God's power, there also exists a secret revelation that could be called the revelation of God's weakness." Yes, God is 'weak', Cardinal Cantalamessa says, but not in the sense that we may think. Whenever we see one who is weak, many of us pity them and in some cases look down upon them. However, for God His 'weakness' is nothing for us to 'pity'; rather it becomes a part of His great power. Cardinal Cantalamessa continues in saying, "God's weakness is caused by his love for humanity." If you think about it, the relationship between a parent and their child- the parent gets down on the child's level and becomes completely vulnerable. That is the same thing for God's weakness. God came down from Heaven as the Father sent His Son into the world to show that His weakness is perpetuated from His love for us. In our Gospel from the John, we read of the famous account of the death of Lazarus. When Jesus heard of Lazarus being ill and at the point of death, Jesus doesn't automatically go. Instead Jesus says, "This illness is not to end in death, but is for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified through it." Indeed, when someone is sick, even in our own age, they are weak- their immune system is trying to become stronger against the virus or illness, the person cannot physically move, their energy is drained, etc... This is what we feel- physically speaking. Illness makes us weak. We live in a society where 'weakness' is not an option as we think we always need to 'stand our ground', 'be assertive', etc... In other words, if we are weak, we are worthless. If we are strong, then we have potential.

In this moment, Jesus wanted his disciples to experience the death of Lazarus, and even Jesus experience the death of a very good friend. Why? So that He can also share in the weakness of mourning a loved one. As it says a little while later after he arrives in Bethany and is greeted by Martha whom He questions about the Resurrection, it says, "And Jesus wept." Jesus is revealing the weakness of His humanity. God 'crying', what is this? It Jesus entering into our own human state. Its as simple as that. God, although all powerful and omnipotent, wants to sympathize with us, in as much as becoming man on our own level and experience what we experience- both the good and not so good. At this point people are 'blaming' Jesus who performed miracles on the blind and lame as to why he did not come to cure his friend. Again, it is as Jesus said at the very beginning, 'for the glory of God to be revealed through the Son of God.' Jesus is teaching us that death is nothing more than us falling asleep, as he mentions about Lazarus 'sleeping'. Eventually, Jesus in calling out to Lazarus who has been dead for four days, commands life to return to him in order for the Glory of God to be revealed. Brothers and sisters, this is the power of the Cross- Christ Crucified in weakness, and Christ lives through the power of God. God became weak for us in order to love us. Its now our turn to break down our own barriers and to enter into our most vulnerable state so that Jesus Himself, in his own weakness, may raise us up in His own strength.

NEWS FROM THE ARCHDIOCESE OF HARTFORD

MARCH 21 - 27, 2026

Club at East Hartford Parish Builds Bonds, Nourishes the Souls

- Story by Jim Tierney

At the heart of the North American Martyrs Adult Social Club in East Hartford is something simple but powerful: people who show up for one another. For many members, the club is the one place where they know they will be greeted by name, welcomed with a smile and surrounded by others who genuinely care about them.

Being a member of the Adult Social Club for St. Christopher and St. Mary churches is far more than attending a monthly meeting; it is a lifeline of friendship, purpose and joy for older adults who might otherwise feel isolated.

“There is a great sense of community.”

Jean Nowik, a member for more than 10 years, uses one word to describe why she loves the club. “Friendship,” she says.

For many older members who don’t use computers, Nowik adds, the club is their main social connection. “It’s like visiting old friends,” she explains. “There is a great sense of community.”

The club’s caring spirit runs deep. Members drive one another to gatherings, celebrate birthdays and look out for anyone who needs help. This spirit of dedication is reflected in longtime member and club president Joan Perrone.

Perrone has been part of the St. Christopher Church community in East Hartford since 1962, raising her family there and building lasting friendships through its many social groups. After her husband Frank’s passing last May, she continues helping the club thrive by working with other members to prepare and set up for the meetings, which are held at St. Christopher Church.

What keeps members, ranging in age from 60 to 95, coming back? “They like us and how we treat them,” Perrone says. “They don’t have to drive very far to get there, they like the entertainment and they like meeting up with their friends and acquaintances. I believe they have fun and laugh a lot.”

Long before each meeting begins, dedicated members arrive to prepare the hall – setting up tables, arranging name badges, testing sound equipment and making sure the smell of fresh coffee fills the room.

And when those doors open, the atmosphere shifts completely. The room erupts into laughter, whether it is triggered by someone wearing a funny hat at the Funtucky Derby, a spontaneous game of make-believe baseball or comedic antics.

The club though is serious about one thing only: making sure people enjoy themselves. The themes, decorations, speakers, entertainment, music and games are chosen with the same purpose – to give members something to look forward to, to smile about and to cherish. With an aging membership and volunteers that are hard to find, the club remains a testament to what can happen when people care enough to keep showing up, Perrone says.

“I don’t know for sure how we have impacted members’ lives or relationships, but I believe we have given them some small moments of fun, entertainment and inclusion,” she says. “All I can do is try to make sure that when they come in those hall doors, they enjoy themselves. If that makes them a little happier when they leave, I’m happy.”
